Overview

Most consultancies place FMGs into Germany as Pflegefachkraft — a Nurse/Health Worker role. Even a fully qualified doctor is routed into nursing-level work, and without clearing the Approbation exam, that candidate never becomes a Doctor there.

Our model is different. We place FMGs as General Practitioners in the Gulf (UAE, Saudi, Qatar, Oman, Bahrain) — with full Doctor identity and Doctor-level salary, not as a Health Worker.

Target Candidate

- MBBS from a WHO-recognized foreign university (Ukraine, Kyrgyzstan, Kazakhstan, Nepal, Bangladesh, Bhutan, etc.)
- FMGE/NExT clear or not — Gulf licensing does not depend on India licensing
- Age 24–35
- Strong medical foundation and English proficiency

Job Role: General Practitioner

Not a Nurse, not a Health Assistant. The candidate works on the basis of their actual medical degree — patient diagnosis, treatment planning, OPD/IPD management — as a Doctor, with the Doctor designation.
